Dedication

To JOHN HAMMER, member of the class of '49, athlete, musician, all-round student, who died last October, we dedicate this book.

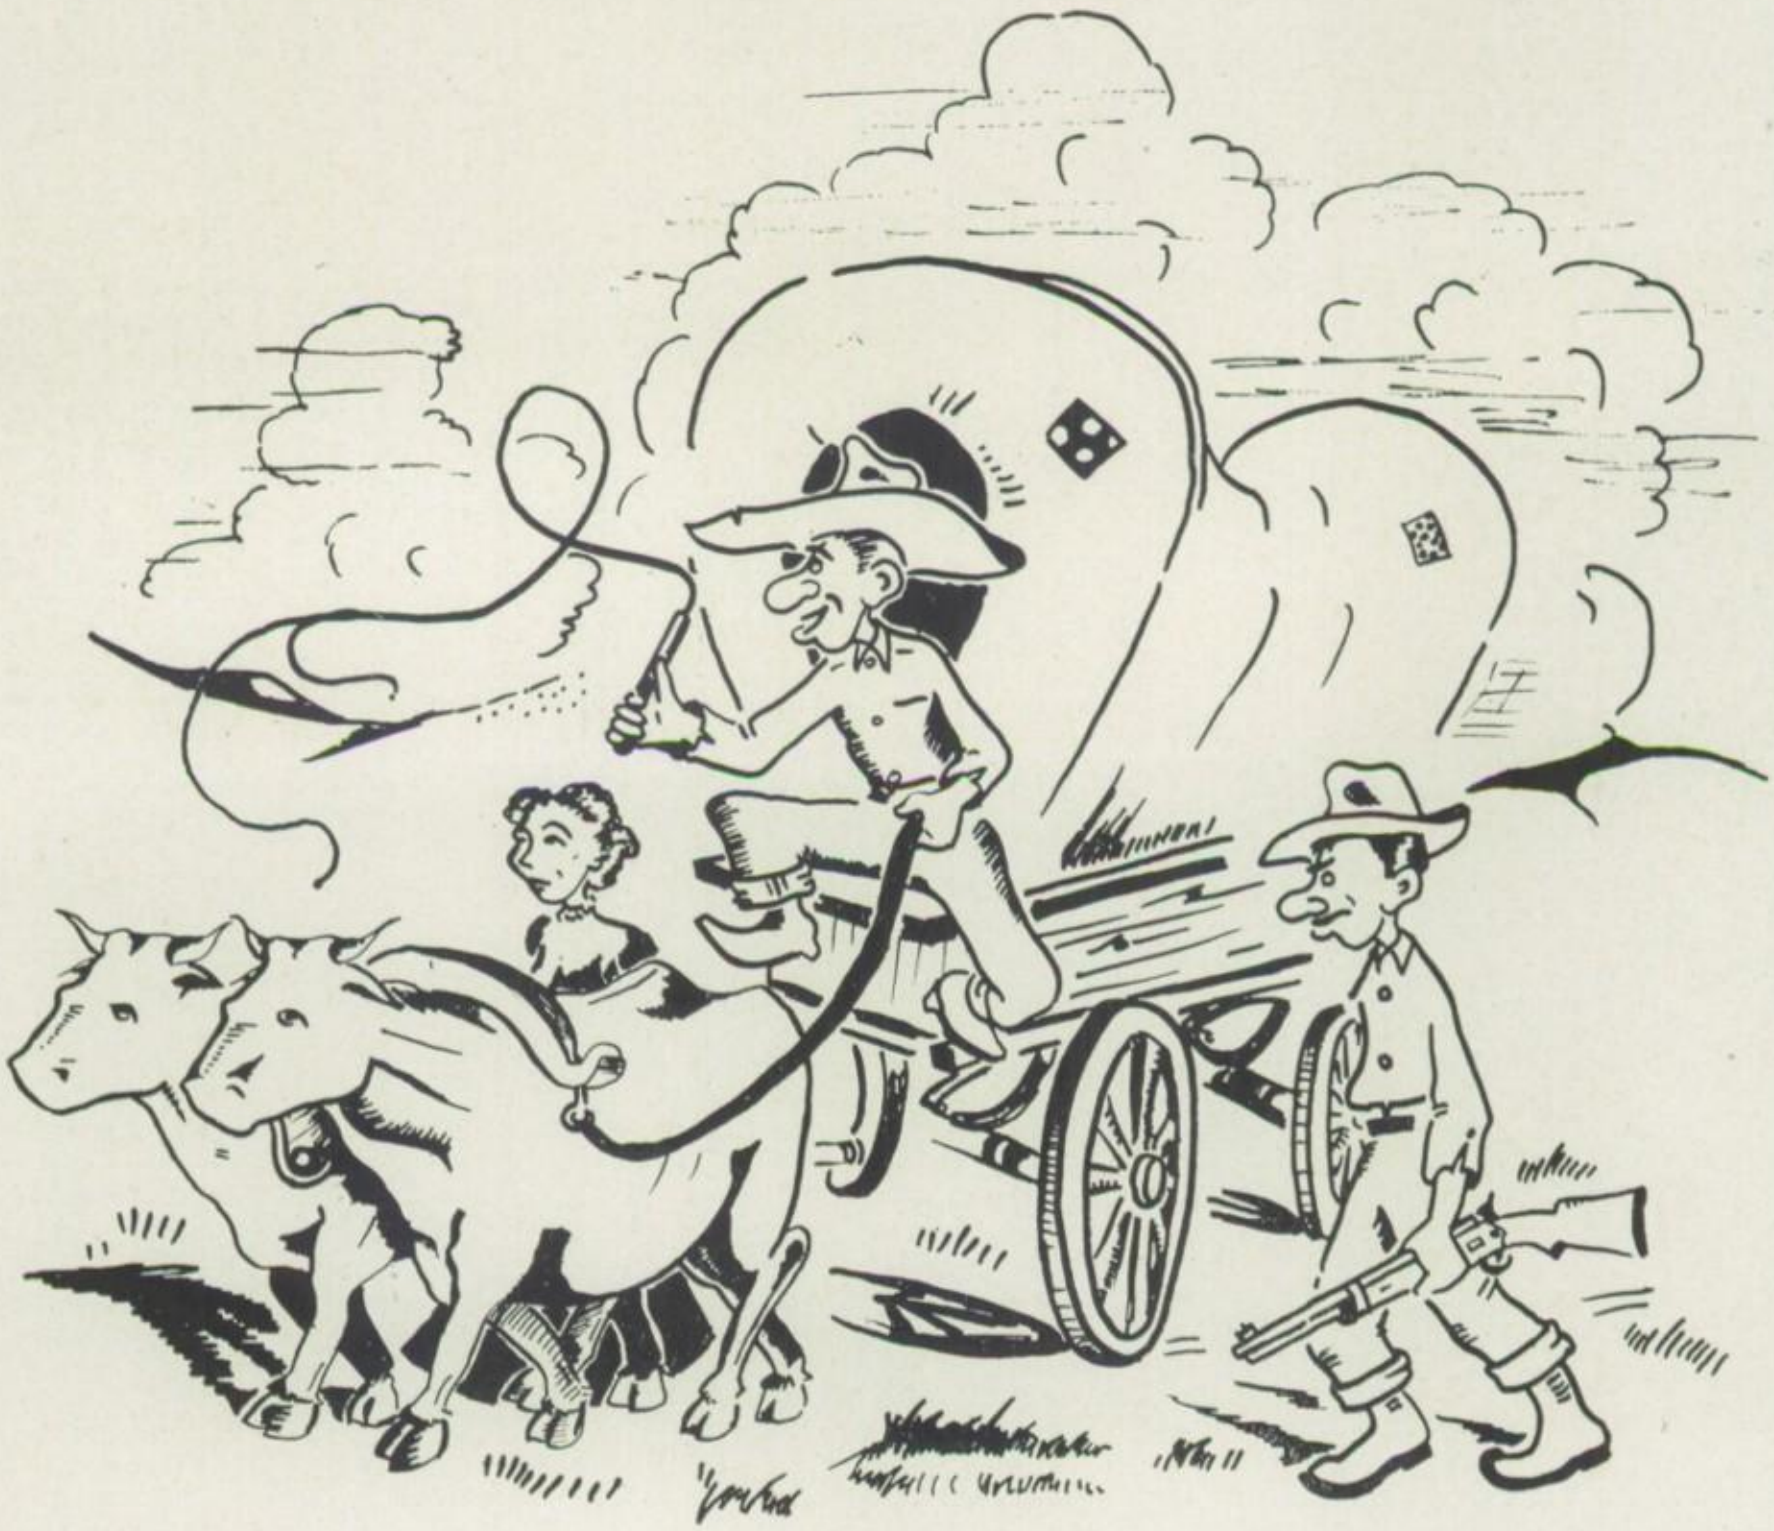
ADMINISTRATION

FORTY-NINERS—one hundred years ago and today. Ten decades have passed by—decades of achievement, advancement, improvement—decades made brighter and more colorful because vast throngs of pioneers surged forward courageously in 1849, seeking wealth and success.

Though our lives have been vastly different, we forty-niners of 1949 have much in common with the forty-niners of 1849. Both they and we, with our eyes fixed on a definite goal, have moved steadily forward. As they had hills to climb, battles to fight, and decisions to make, so have we. And they, as we, had recognized leaders who helped plan their course.

Now as four years are drawing to a close, and 1949 finds another class seeking success, pause awhile to reflect that some of our progress may be attributed to the pioneering spirit of 1849.

Photos in this book are by Mr. Charles Goodwin.
The drawing below and those on the following division pages were done by Pat Riney, Jr.



THROUGH these pages one can see the continuance of traditions which have been found good in making our school satisfying to our pride. Here also one sees new paths of endeavor outlined which mark the way for progress in an ever changing world.

May these records inspire our graduates to show the courage and initiative exemplified in the original '49ers in order that they also will be a strong influence in shaping the destiny of their communities.

TO THE CLASS OF 1949:

One hundred years ago came the frenzied rush for California gold. This search for the precious metal stimulated the growth of not only California, but the entire West. However, many people learned the truth of the statement "all that glitters is not gold." Today you have many opportunities to pioneer in worthwhile areas—and also an infinitely greater variety of glittering "fool's gold" attractions to mislead those who are unwary and those whose thinking is unsound.

There is so much to be accomplished in your lifetimes. Advances in medicine, engineering, nuclear physics, astronomy, political science, human relationships and the cultural arts, for example, could challenge the best in many of you.

May you earn in large measure the type of enduring happiness that comes with genuine achievement.

C. A. THOMPSON

THIS RECORD of what happens at R. A. Long is illuminating in the variety and accomplishments that are pictured. It can only hint at the friendly cooperative relationships between students and faculty that makes these results possible.

THE COWLITZ-COLUMBIA VALLEY, during the past hundred years has seen the triumph of man over the primitive forests. Those of us who enjoy today the fruits of pioneer labor owe a huge debt of gratitude.

It is the conviction of thinking men, however, that we today live on the edge of an even greater frontier. They call it the frontier of human relations. It is concerned with learning to live peacefully with other human beings, whose skin, language, and governmental organization differ from yours, but whose hopes, ambitions, and desire for peace are much the same.

Will the "Lumberjack" of 2049 thank you for the progress made in covering your frontier with the same feeling that you thank the Forty-niners of Monticello and Freeport?

Campus Council

The law-making and governing body of R. A. Long, Student Council, is one of the most important organizations in school.

With fifty-two members acting for the entire student body, this year they met every two weeks, often during school time thus enabling most of the representatives to be present.

This year five new rules were added to the school regulations regarding traffic in the halls and on the campus. They again sponsored the annual sales with Marion Simmons, business manager, in charge. Early in the fall they purchased a popcorn machine for use by the various organizations at the school games.

Leading the A. S. B. this year were Don Lytle as president; Bruce Holmes, vice president; Mildred Scott, secretary, and Dorothy Kekke, historian. Mr. Thompson, as vice principal, was their advisor.

Campus Cops

When one thinks of justice, it brings to mind a law enforcing body which in R. A. Long is the Board of Control.

That people working together can really do things was proved by the Board of Control this year when as a result of patrolling the school and campus grounds and enforcing the A. S. B. rules, there was a decided improvement in the cafeteria and in cooperation between the Board and other students.

This year the Citizenship committee, which had been inactive in previous years, came to life. Its purpose is to promote better citizenship and more cooperation between students and the student government. Visitors are allowed to attend the weekly meetings to observe this judicial department of our student government in operation.

Working very hard have been the officers, who are Carl Simpson, president; Don Jenkins, vice president; Gloria Kainu, secretary; and Phyllis Watson, work supervsior.

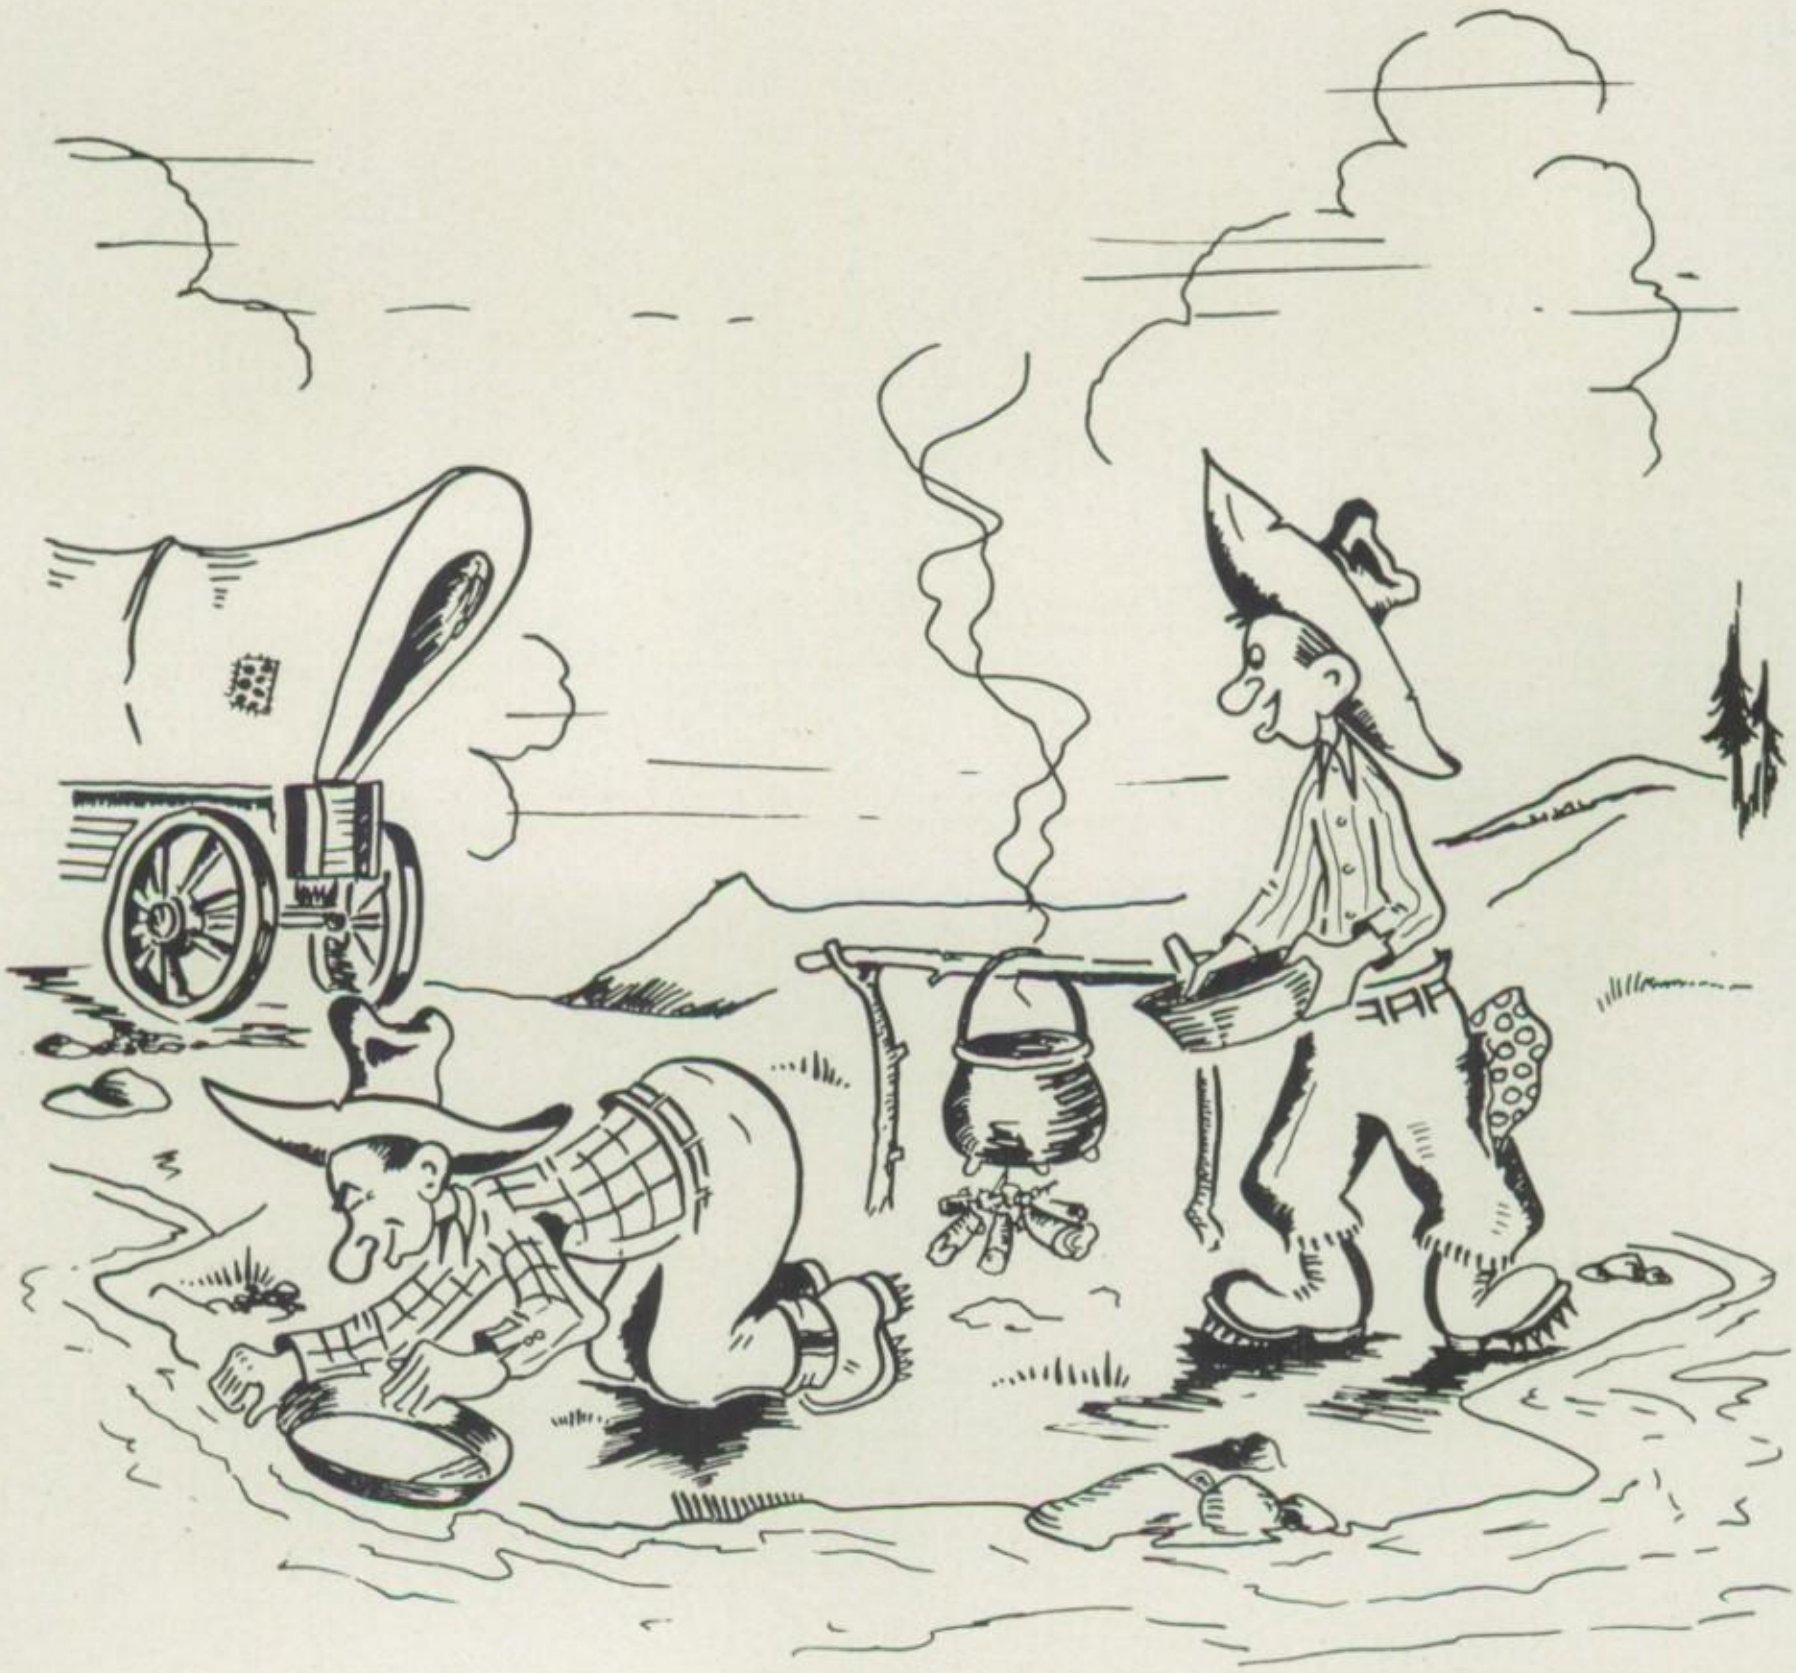
CLASSES

THE WORLD never saw a better illustration of the power of gold to affect the lives and destinies of individuals than the rush of 1849. Multitudes of people, mostly men, but among them women and children, turned westward risking everthing including their lives. Theirs was the search for gold; ours the search for knowledge. Riches was their symbol of achievement; the diploma is the symbol of ours, gained after twelve years of seeking for knowledge. Our find, the diploma, does not limit our lives and spirits to our position and locality here, however, but will urge us to go further in our search for higher goals.

As those forty-niners left a marked influence in American progress and ideals, may we hope that even one from the class of '49 may have his name recorded on the pages of history?



They've Reached the Top

Milne, Burns, Dalen, Grendon
Jenkins, Harrison, Mann, Davies, Greene, Simmons, Burns, MacPherson

AFTER FOUR LONG YEARS the senior class of 1949 has reached the top and is ready for the future.

During these past four years the senior class has done well in all the activities in which they have engaged. During their freshman year they built bon fires for the rallies, sponsored the annual freshman-eighth grade dance, and decorated for baccalaureate. As sophomores they finished the usual tasks assigned to second year students which included decorating for the commencement exercises. While juniors, the class of '49 accomplished a great deal and ended the year with a very successful junior prom. This past year the senior class presented the play, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court", and the annual senior assembly. They found time for these things besides their other activities in clubs and sports.

This year's graduating class has good reason to be proud of many of the individual members of their class who have excelled in music, sports, and scholastic ability. These are members of the class which will be remembered in the years to come.

The senior class has been fortunate in the selection of class officers in the past four years. During the freshman year the president was Mabel Slaughter. Under her were vice president Jim Milne, and Kathryn Schumacher, secretary-treasurer. The sophomores were led by Mardell Patching. Aiding her were vice president Don Lytle and secretary-treasurer JoAnn Richardson. Ed Stewart led the juniors assisted by Bill Millett, vice president and Joyce Robertson, secretary-treasurer. Jim Milne was president of the senior class. Assisting officers during the fourth year were Gary Burns as vice-president, Betty Dalen was the capable secretary and Pat Grendon was treasurer.

They're Next in Line

Sally Luther, President Chuck Zimmerman, Vice President Beverly Flack, Secretary-Treasurer

Representatives: Bill Sudar, Harris Lanphear, Sally Satcher, Winifred Sedlacek, Faye Johnson, Barbara Asky, Robert Smith, David Cotton.

THIS YEAR'S JUNIOR CLASS, as many such classes before them, has made the advancing step from sophomores to become upperclassmen. They should be complimented on their original talent, their ability to work together, and their spirit in carrying out class projects. If these people with inventive minds can keep up the creditable work, we can look forward to interesting productions in next year's senior class.

Dominating their class activities was the Junior Prom given in April as a gift to the seniors. Second was a very entertaining comic assembly given in December under the co-chairmanship of Joan Schaffer and John Estey.

Other activities included a concession at the Thanksgiving game and one at the Longview-Chehalis basketball game. In the group division of the annual Girls' Club Amateur show, a group of junior girls were awarded first prize.

Working hard and co-operatively all year as leaders have been their class officers with Sally Luther as president; Chuck Zimmerman, vice president; Beverly Flack, secretary; Gene McTee, yell king; and class advisor, Mrs. Dorothy Hodwalker.

MAKING an important step upward from underclassmen to upperclassmen and keeping in mind that next year they will really have the title has been the sophomore class who has shown fine spirit and co-operation.

Highlighting their list of activities was the sophomore assembly given very successfully on January 11. Well-planned, arranged, and carried through by the sophomore girls was the Big and Little Sister party at which the senior and freshman girls were guests. The class also sponsored a dance after the final basketball game of the season.

Assuming the responsibilities of officers for the year were Stuart Randall as president; Bill Lane, vice president; Beverly Bell, secretary, and Sally Hadley, treasurer.

QUICK to adjust themselves to the new ways in R. A. Long High School, freshmen are now a definite part of high school life. Some have made names for themselves in music, dramatics, and athletics as well as scholorship, and have come through with flying colors.

Their outstanding social event of the year was the freshman-eighth grade dance at which the freshman were hosts. Included in the freshman program is the traditional fire-building for all the pep rallies, and this year's group proved themselves well able to do it. Helping with senior activities were the freshman, who were in charge of decorating for Baccalaureate.

Leading the class as officers were Dean Scherer as president, Dale Peterson, vice president; Lu Ann Heath, secretary; and Paul Sanger, treasurer.

ORGANIZATIONS

DIFFERENT, indeed, were the people who rushed from the East at the sound of the magic word "Gold," but differences in background and personalities didn't amount to much. Gold became a great leveler of society in the new western settlements. Old ideas of class distinction gave way to concern for the success of their struggle, knowing that working together for security and improvement was the only solution. Banding together in groups, working toward a common goal, our modern forty-niners, too, realize that if the element of co-operation is present in building toward any goal, the work is half done.

Handling all the publications of the school are the Annual Staff and the Log Staff.

This is the second year R. A. Long High School has had a publications class which puts out the annual. Editor-in-chief of the annual this year was Joan Schacherer working with Ann Lightfoot as art editor, Joanne DeKalb, senior; Beverlee Copeland, class; Virginia Weatherby, administration; Ann Nordquist, organizations; Warren Ames, sports; Gloria Kainu, production; and Marion Simmons, student life. In addition to the annual, the class also put out a book of student writings to which any student in school may contribute. Editor this year of Campus Clippings was Delores Marthaller, who with the other members of the staff also worked on the annual.

With co-editors Jo Nettleton and Gloria Kainu in charge, the Lumberjack Log was published every two weeks. Working hard as members of the staff were Arlen Moore as sports editor, Dorothy Hendrickson and Lorraine Ford, feature editors; Marianne Peters, business manager; Beverlee Copeland advertising manager; Marlene Sublett and Billye Ennis, circulation managers; and the ad solicitors through the year were Marlene Sublett, Mary Richards, Nita Clark, Marilyn Marx, Beverly Grasser, Dorothy Hendrickson, and Ron Hartgrove. Some of the members worked on the Log for only one semester.

Quill and Scroll, pictured at the right, this year numbered twenty-one. Students selected from both of the above staffs on the basis of their work in publications and with grades in the upper third of their class are members of this organization, an international honorary society for high school journalists.

B and Above

HONOR SOCIETY is a National High School Honorary Society whose purpose is to encourage and reward high scholastic attainment.

The object of the organization is to establish good fellowship among the students, to encourage scholarship by recognition of merit, and to promote good school citizenship.

Under the direction of the president, Don Jenkins, the club has done a great deal to acquaint the students with the benefits of a high scholastic record through its extensive scholarship program.

With the theme "Stormy Weather", Honor Society sponsored a dance after a football game. At Thanksgiving they had a pie feed. Refreshments were served at the Christmas Party just before Christmas vacation. An event that always furnishes plenty of fun and entertainment for everyone was the joint party with the Kelso Honor Society.

The scholarship committee, whose duty it is to acquire and display college information for the benefit of the students wishing to use it, is composed of Shirley Birlew, chairman, Allan Deal, Winifred Sedlacek, and Bob Larkin.

The membership committee keeps a record of the grades of each member and the number of Honor Society activities in which each participates. Thea Gevers is chairman of this committee, assisted by Wendy Adams, Beverly Bell, Beverly Callahan, Barbara Hallin, and Carol King.

Other officers are vice president, JoAnn Dekalb; secretary-treasurer, Bette Grocott, and historian, Adrienne Toppila. Mrs. Anne Donnelly is the club advisor.

Acting as the officers of Library club this year were Sharon Simmons, president; Barbara Hallin, vice president; Kathryn Kelly, secretary; Lorriane Ford, treasurer; and Dolores Backeberg, historian.

Super Saleswomen

In order to promote greater cooperation between local businessmen and members of the Retail Selling class, the Retail Selling Club was organized in 1945. Since then it has maintained this goal through the guidance of the club advisor, Miss Esculene Anderson.

A new event of the year was the Merchants' Banquet held for the students and their employers to bring about more friendly relations between these groups. In addition to this, the club had concessions at football and basketball games and also provided a Sweet Shop at the annual Open House where home made cakes, cookies and candy were sold.

Donna Heywood was president for the first semester with Louise Robinson as vice president, Alma Anderson, secretary; Bernice Carriker, treasurer; Barbara Judd, historian and Mildred McDonald, parliamentarian. President for the second semester was Margie Hensley with Donna Heywood as vice president, Alma Anderson, secretary; Barbara Judd, treasurer; Joan Curtis, historian; and Louise Robinson, parliamentarian. This year Retail Selling was honored by having their representative, Donna Heywood elected treasurer for the Washington State Retailers.

On Stage

To help promote dramatics and to teach students how to work well together, Masque and Dagger sponsored a number of worthwhile activities.

To become a member, this fall students were required to work on or be in one of the three one-act plays, "Butch", "One Egg", and "Wise Freshmen", or to have worked on last year's all-school play and this year's senior play.

With Masque and Dagger assisting, the dramatics department produced this year for the first time in the history of R. A. Long a childrens' theater play, "Rumpelstilskin", a three-act comedy. This is the beginning of what the club hopes will be an annual event. They also sponsored the annual one-act play festival, at which Longview's contribution, "Mood Piece," given by the speech classes was awarded a superior rating. Several Longview students took honors at the University of Washington Speech Festival where reading of poetry and prose and extemporaneous speaking were the events. The last major activity of the year was the sponsoring of the University of Washington plays, "Blithe Spirit" and "The Rivals."

Leading the club as officers for the year were JoAnn Kroll as president; Ronnie Wooton, vice president; Winifred Sedlacek, secretary; David Holmes, treasurer; and Betty Grocott, historian. Miss Muriel Albert and Miss Margaret Kohlmeier were advisors.

Alumnos Espanoles

So THAT the Spanish students of R. A. Long might learn more about the customs and modes of living of the people of the Latin American countries, a Spanish Club has been organized by Miss Helen Brekke, Spanish teacher.

The members of the Spanish Club participated in many social events including a Merienda, a school dance and an assembly for the entire school. The Merienda, a traditional Mexican Christmas celebration, was in December. To climax the party, the students broke pinatas which were filled with all kinds of candies. In February, the Spanish Club sponsored a dance after the Longview-Camas basketball game using the theme "Moonlight Serenade."

The annual Spanish Club assembly was presented during Pan-American Week to help the students of R. A. Long to fully appreciate our good neighbors in the south.

This year, Spanish Club had eight officers who were elected each semester.

Alumni Romani

THE OLD ROMANS with all their festivities and ritual had nothing on the Latin students of today as they too had a real Latin Banquet with all the trimmings on March 22. The students wore togas and the banquet room was decorated with flowers which had the names of old Roman and Greek people.

Another ancient custom is the Saturnalia celebration held at Christmas. The Roman Christmas was very much like ours because they too exchanged gifts. The party held by the Latin Club celebrating this holiday was more on the order of a Sundae Party, though its purpose was to learn about these pagan celebrations.

David Holmes was president of the entire Latin Club which consisted of two first and two second year classes. With Miss Helen Brekke as advisor, the club meetings were on the first Monday of each month when they discussed their future activities.

PROJECTION CREW

Row 2—White, Malone, Hill.
Row 3—Wheeler, Irish, Richardson, E.

A boys' service club, given not half the credit they deserve, is the Projection Crew of R. A. Long. They're always on hand whenever needed to run films for the benefit of teachers and students.

At all times they see that the equipment is taken care of and kept in good condition ready for immediate use. During the illness of their advisor, Mr. Nicholson, Larry Malone as a very capable president with the rest of the boys carried out effectively the film schedule as Mr. Nicholson had planned. Hats off to a spirited group of boys who do such a fine job.

Row 1—Brock, E., Reid, Granland, Shay.
Row 2—Parker, Strener, Larkin, Billington, Anderson, J.
Row 3—Miller, Skaugg, Mr. Cox, McKee, Estes.

Another service group of R. A. Long is the P. A. Crew. Since it has no president and does not elect officers it is not patterned after most other clubs in school.

The name given this crew comes from the Public Address which they manage. They're always on hand at football and basketball games, assemblies, and dances to set up the electrical equipment. The foremen in charge of these various projects are Thayron Sanquist, football; Bod Larkin, basketball; Bob Miller and Mickey Skaugg, transcriptions; and Ed Brock, assemblies. This very useful organization is advised by Mr. Cox and does a lot toward school activities.

STAGE CREW

The group of students who create sound effects, handle the lighting, set the stage and clean it up after preformances—They are the Stage Crew and Stage Craft classes working together.

This was the first year in R. A. Long High School history to have a Stage Crafts class. With Miss Lillianne Veatch as instructor, this group works with the Stage Crew in making and repainting scenes, plotting stage arrangements, and handling props. The class this year was a full year subject and included junior and senior boys and girls.

Pep Generators

Pep Band (bottom cut): Row 1—Parker, Blaine.
Row 2—Skaugg, Cobb, Marsh, Profitt.
Row 3—Lewis, Price, Catt, Sainsbury, Anderson.

LEADING the pep staff this year have been the song queen Joice Balch and yell king Jack Kruckenberg. Thru their efforts and those of their assistants, R. A. Long has had some arousing pep assemblies.

The song queen with her assistants Sue Gipple and Lois Lebacken have introduced many new songs in pep assemblies and were always present at football and basketball games.

Accompanying Jack on the yell staff were Roy Scott as yell Duke and Rose Johnson and Dot Haryu as yell Duchesses. This was the first time for many years that Longview high has had girls on the yell staff. Many new yells were also introduced by the yell squad.

Thanks should be given to the members of the pep staff for their fine school spirit in promoting enthusiasm at sports events, by chartering buses and conducting pep rallies.

Working hand in hand with the Pep Staff, the Pep Band, under the direction of Bob Parker, led the school in many songs throughout the year.

Besides playing at all pep rallies and at basketball games, they have been the main attribution to our colorful pep assemblies.

The Pep Band which is composed of members of the regular band, consists of nine sophomores and two juniors, making a total of eleven members.

Yell Belles

Row 3—Horn, Carlson, Thompson, Richardson, Mainer, Robertson, Davies.
Row 4—Miss Jacobs, Slaughter, Larson, Copeland, Packard, Lightfoot, Kekke, Hazelquist.

With Peggy Mainer as president, Pep Club has fully lived up to its purpose to create extensive school spirit and render various helpful services to the school.

Throughout the year, Pep Club has ably supported the yell staff, and some of the members acted as usherettes at all conference basketball games.

Following the Longview-Hoquiam game they presented a dance with the theme "Deep Purple' and an assembly at Thanksgiving.

In December they served at the Elks football banquet, and also in the same month, the club collected money to buy various individual gifts such as toothpaste, talcum, stationary, and washclothes for hospitalized veterans. They also sent cookies and candy which each member made. They had a "wrapping party" at one of their meetings, after which the gifts were forwarded to Barnes Hospital in Vancouver, Washington. Preceding both Longview-Kelso basketball games, the traditional banquets were exchanged between the Highland Lassies and the Longview Pep Club.

Pep Club members are chosen on the basis of activity points, pep, personality, scholarship, and service to the school, and are elected by the girls of the school. Initiation was held in May.

In addition to President Peggy Mainer, Jo Ann Hoyt served as vice president, Barbara Carlson as secretary, Beverlee Copeland as treasurer, and Anne Lightfoot as historian. Pep Club greatly appreciates the time and effort Miss Veda Jacobs, advisor, has spent working with them.

Spunky Sportsters

SPLASH PARTIES, chili feeds, exchange get-togethers with other Girls' Letterman clubs and many more activities comprised the social calendar of the R. A. Long Girls' Letterman Club.

Early in the year nineteen new members were taken into the club, making a total membership of forty-one. Initiations took place for two days with the neophytes becoming official members at a banquet the second evening.

Girls' Letterman sponsored sports three nights a week after school. Sports that compile the calendar are speedball, volleyball, softball, badminton, hockey, tennis, swimming, basketball, and ping pong. Girls may turn out for these sports and receive points that are necessary to become a member. Awards that are given are a diamond numeral for the first five hundred points, a small letter, a pin, and a guard.

They sponsored two dances, "Harvest Moon" in October and "Winter Wonderland" in January. The two concessions were at the Longview-Klamath Falls football game and at the basketball jamboree. Seven girls went to Centralia to a Girls' Letterman Conference. The day was spent playing games and discussing the work of Letterman Clubs. This year twenty-five new chairs were purchased by the club, for the clubroom.

Gloria Kainu was president of the club; Jill Larson, vice president; Evelyn Hazelquist, secretary; Florence Hamblin, treasurer; Ann Nordquist, historian; Marion Simmons, points manager; and Jo Nettleton, sergeant-at-arms. Advisors are Mrs. Bonita Christal and Miss Marie Johnson.

Fearless Fella's

LOOKING AFTER THE INTERESTS of the school are the Knights of the Axe, a service organization of R. A. Long. This includes sweeping stands, patroling the football games, and selling and taking tickets at basketball games. These and many others are jobs they do year in and year out. The axe and the paddles are the symbols by which the members are recognized when on duty, adding color at all athletic events. These two symbols plus willing and cheerful service distinguish this school club.

The highlight of the social year for the club was the annual Red and Black Ball, April 2. In addition are many smaller but important affairs.

Warren Ames headed the club through a very successful year. He was aided by Warren Morris, vice president, and Harris Lanphear, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Koth, the club advisor, was instrumental in making this a good year for them. Many thanks are offered him for the excellent advising the club received.

Crack Shots

LEARNING ALL ABOUT GUNS is the chief aim of the Rifle Club which completed its seventeenth year as a member of the National Rifle Association. The purpose of this organization is to promote marksmanship and true sportsmanship.

Turnouts for the team were once a week in the shooting gallery. The team also had a match with the Vancouver Rifle Club.

With guns and part of the ammunition furnished by the Army, they study about rifles not only to become expert marksmen, but for recreation as well. The members of the club do not shoot all of the time, however, as some time is spent in the study of firearms. Most of this is on government materials.

A group of medals which members may earn are pro-marksman, marksman, marksman first class, and sharpshooter, of which there are ten degrees. To earn the sharpshooter medal, a person must shoot a series of ten targets, with a score of at least fifty.

Evelyn Hazelquist, president, is assisted by Johnny York, vice president; Alfred Russell, secretary; Rosalie Lambert, treasurer, and Junior Walker, range officer.

Price, Catt, Sainsbury.

Every afternoon from one to two, sweet notes, sour notes, and anything from Bach to Boogie can be heard pouring from a small corner of the gymnasium. This is R. A. Long High School's Band and its director Calvin Storey. Many long hours of hard practice in and out of school go to make up part of the life of members of the largest band ever had at R. A. Long.

. . . . Of Rhythm

The band played at all our home football games and made a trip to Centralia where they marched in a parade before the game. During basketball season the band split into two sections to play for the games. These groups were under student direction of Carl Cobb, Bob Parker, Joe Proffitt, and Mildred Scott.

The organization was honored this spring when they were one of three northwest bands invited to play an afternoon concert before the Northwest Music Educator's Conference in Portland. Five members participated in the All-Northwest Conference Band held at this conference.

A few days later, after much hard practice, the band entered the Music Meet at Aberdeen.

The band members elect each year a secretary and a band board. This years' selection for secretary was Byron Haley with Jim Sainsbury, Mickey Skaugg, and Mildre dScott composing the board.

Several students organized small ensembles again this year. These were the trombone quartet composed of Joe Proffitt, Carl Cobb, Bob Miller, and Bob Cole; the trumpet trio with Jim Sainsbury, Larry Catt, and Brian Price as its members; and the clarinet quartet with Bob Parker, Mary Ann Nelson, Pat Fulton, and Chuck Zimmerman. These groups played for club meetings and programs throughout the entire school year.

Well known music organizations in R. A. Long are the Glee Clubs. Every year they grow in number and this year Senior Glee reached a total of ninety-nine with Freshman Glee numbering eighty-eight.

Both Clubs were busy this year, taking part in many events. They appeared in the Christmas concert, school assemblies, and gave a spring concert. In February they gave a John Hammer concert from which all proceeds went to the polio fund. At the time of his death, Johnny was president of Senior Glee.

Only the Senior Glee Club took part in the music meet at Aberdeen, one of the highlights of the year. This group also exchanged concerts with out of town Glee Clubs.

Presiding officers for the Freshman Girls' Glee Club were Lu Ann Heath as president, Shirley Koepke, vice president; Pat Roberts, secretary; Adele Garner, treasurer; and Earlene Reed and Georgia Pollard, librarians.

Leading the Boys' Glee were Herman Marthaller, president; Dale Peterson, vice president; Dick Anderson, secretary; and Homer Evans and Jerry Green, librarians.

Accomplished Musicians

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Irvin Gattiker, the forty members of the R. A. Long orchestra played at many events this year.

Early in the term the orchestra provided entertainment at the senior play, open-house, and at the Cowlitz County Teachers' Institute. Later they were heard at the all-school play, the combined women's Service Club luncheon, the music festival in Aberdeen, the spring concert, and at Baccalaureate. Many times various members of the orchestra were invited to play for civic groups about town.

Although the Orchestra this year was smaller than last year's, their program was more complete. This year for the first time, the orchestra had an exchange assembly with Vancouver high school.

Jim Moran was president of the group with Mabel Slaughter as vice president, and Kermit Knudtzon, librarian.

MOTTO

Learning To Do
Doing To Learn
Earning To Live
Living To Serve

THE BOYS REALIZE that if farming is to be on a high plane comparable with other industries they must be trained as scientific farmers. They must also be good managers for they have more invested than the business man. A farmer must be a leader in his profession if he is to be successful.

With these thoughts in mind, the boys have participated in many activities, all of which are designed to develop leadership and assist the boys in becoming successfully established in farming.

In 1948, the local chapter won high honors in being awarded the coveted Master Chapter rating for outstanding accomplishment. Most of the boys have highly satisfactory farm projects in which they practice the fundamentals of farming learned in the classroom. Many of the boys make good returns, thus helping them grow into farming on a full scale. Our president, Malcolm Anderson, had a typical farm project in 1948. He raised 3½ acres of cucumbers, which were contracted to the Pacific Conserving Company. He also fattened a Shromney Wether lamb for showing at the Auburn Junior Livestock Show. Many other boys had similar productive projects and won outstanding prizes at Northwest fairs and expositions.

Eleven Boys participated in the Cowlitz County Fair, September 9-12, and won their share of honors.

At the Western Washington Fair, September 18-26, members exhibited six head of registered Jersey cattle and Rolland Dietel and Bob Hendrickson won high honors.

At the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in October, Bob Kellicutt placed second in competition with one-hundred and seventy four boys.

The officers this year are Malcolm Anderson, president; Arthur White, vice-president; Mickey Anderson, secretary; Charles Johnson, treasurer; Phil Keizur, reporter; and Norman Hauge, sentinel. The advisor is Harold Gilkey.

"To CREATE, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character" is the creed of the four Tri-Hi-Y groups at R. A. Long.

Early in the year the club, then one body of girls, divided into four different groups, Senior, Digna, Delta Beta, and Alpha Tri-Hi-Y. After elections in the groups the clubs began on their work, to be of service to the community. Projects such as sending boxes of clothing overseas, giving Christmas baskets to needy families, sponsoring rummage sales and fat drives were a few of the many duties undertaken by the Tri-Hi-Y girls. Highlight of the social calendar was the annual tolo in March with the theme "Moonlight Serenade."

Presiding over meetings for their groups were the club presidents Joyce Robertson, Delores Backeberg, Marie Bechtold and Earlene Reed.

SPORTS

MINING for gold was not the only work known "in the days of old, the days of gold, and the days of Forty-Nine," for merchants, doctors, dentists, and lawyers came, too, with their valuable equipment—everything that was needed to make the new settlements complete. Wealth came quickly for some; for others who "lived on powder, smoke and bacon" the struggle lasted longer, but all, urged on by ambition, believed they would strike gold just the same.

This never ending spirit was an invaluable factor in the lives of those forty-niners who were kept happy even though they didn't rank highest in wealth and prominence. For, as today, many who did not reach the top, along the way acquired enjoyment and pleasure from their experiences in the journey.

Good Sportsmen All

The Longview Lumberjacks struggled through one of the worst football seasons they have seen in many a year, going through a ten-game schedule without a single win.

Illness and injury plagued the Jacks from start to finish. The squad was mostly sophomores and juniors, the larger part of whom had never done battle on the gridiron.

The Southwest Washington Football Conference was composed of some of the top teams of the state this year, all of whom were trying for top honors. These strong teams deep in experienced reserves, which Longview lacked, overwhelmed the Lumberjacks with their smoothly operating "T" formations and powerful "single wings". But the scrappy wearers of the Red and Black upheld the honors of R. A. Long by their sportsman like conduct and never-say-die attitude. Although every contest was lost in "48" it will be a much wiser and more experienced bunch of boys that will take to the gridirons of the Southwest Conference next fall.

Predictions aren't in order, but it is safe to say that the Lumberjacks will be near the top of the list next season. Under the capable guidance of Buck Hammer, a one time grid great of the Pacific Coast, and his able assistants, Tiz Miller, Ralph Dexter and Don Packard, the Lumberjack gridders are taught good sportsmanship and the necessity of keeping physically fit.

The "B" squad is where the boys learn the fundamentals of the game and how to be tough. They must be able to take it as well as dish it out. The B's made a good showing, winning three and losing three. Among their formidable adversaries were Vancouver, Kelso, Centralia, Chehalis, and Woodland.

Much reserve strength is on tap from last years' "B" team which will be a great help in supporting the nucleous of next years' team.

Lots'a Talent

"Joe's boys are on their way to another Southwest title!" "The Jacks have done it again!" These familiar words reverberated through the Southwest conference this season causing the Lumberjacks' rivals to quake in their boots. True the Jacks came out on top, winning eight and losing two. Preseason predictions slightly favored the boys from Longview, and non-conference games previewed what the Jacks had in store for their conference foes.

Lacking height at the center and forward positions, Longview players had some trouble covering the backboards, but center Warren Morris and forward Eddie Stewart managed to account for more than their share of rebounds, despite the towering height of the opposition. Guards Phil Brown and Gary Burns deserve much credit for their sterling ball handling and expert shooting. Both of which earned the two of them and Morris all conference berths.

Flawless defensive play on the part of Bill Millett and Dick Selberg was largely responsible for the Lumberjacks air-tight defense.

Opening the conference season by defeating a slow starting Camas five, the Jacks then went on the turn back Chehalis, Battleground, Vancouver, and Kelso thus ending the first round. During the second half the Lumberjacks dropped two games, one to Vancouver and the other to Kelso.

Entering the State Tournament in Seattle the Lumberjacks won their first game by decisively beating a highly touted Walla Walla team, but lost the next two thus eliminating themselves.

Track at R. A. Long this year wasn't quite as successful as it has been in years gone by. Handicapped by a lack of material and lack of experience, nevertheless the Jacks excelled in several events. These being the mile, half-mile, and discus. George MacPhearson, halfmiler, Jack Burpee, miler, and Jerry Whyte also a miler made excellent showings with MacPhearson and Burpee ranking among the best in the state. Eddie Stewart, hefty discus thrower, made several very good throws passing the 130 mark. Prospects for next year's team appear much brighter due to the excellent record of the freshmen and sophomores.

"The Windup"

"Home Run"

"Up, up and Away"

With the appearance of spring, baseball once again took the limelight at R. A. Long.

On hand to greet the new Coach Russ Miller, were quite a few regulars from last year. Among these were Phil Brown, Dick Selberg, Bill Millett, Jack Luoto, Billy Hill, John Laufman, and Bob Larkin. Brown, Millett, Selberg, and Fix handled infield chores while Luoto, Hill, and Forbes filled the outfield berths. Laufman and Luoto did most of the hurling with Joe Russell and Chuck Goodner taking turns behind the plate. Three up-and-coming sophomores who pitched the Jacks to several non-conference victories were Dick Powell, Clarence Worely, and Delbert McGhee. Delbert "tiger" Thompson, stellar infielder was injured early in the season and did not see much action. His absence was greatly felt by the Lumberjacks. Russell and Goodner, both sophomores shared catching duties and made a very excellent showing during conference and non-conference tilts.

Hitting was one of the Jacks main assets, besides a smooth working infield. Individual batting averages were unusually high. The team average fluctuated around 284 and above.

Material for next years' squad should be plentiful with a reserve of strength on the mound and behind the plate. Prospects up from the "B" team will also bolster the Jacks.

Grunt and Groan Men

Hampered by bad weather, the wrestling team had only four matches this year, all of them with Vancouver with the Jacks winners of three of them.

The first annual invitational wrestling tournament, of which Stadium of Tacoma took first place, was here, and the Jacks took second place. Frank Handy, senior, and Delbert McGhee, sophomore, were the state champions of their respective weight divisions.

Mermen

Swimming for the first time under the capable guidance of Coach Don Packard and captained by Ted Dejaegher, the Lumberjack swimmers of "49" had quite a successful season, winning six and losing four. Competing against the R. A. Long Mermen were West Linn, Mt. Vernon, Oregon State Frosh, Vancouver, Highline, Lincoln of Tacoma, Stadium of Tacoma, Everett and Aberdeen. The Jack Swimmers should have a strong team next year.

"Nice Return!"

Tennis again took its place in the lineup of spring sports. Under the instruction of Mr. Koth, the Jack Netmen made a good showing for themselves.

First, second, and third singles were handled by Kermit Knudtzon, Warren Ames, and Jim Moran. Doubles combinations were composed of Carl Nipp and Jerry Williams, Bud McKee and Arlan Kavanaugh, Jack Schuh and Les Carpenter, and Don Jenkins and John Estey. The outlook for next years' team may be termed as fair as graduation claimed the first and second singles and first doubles.

Divot Men

Mr. Beasleys' boys were once again in top form, which isn't unusual. It is almost a yearly occurance for the 'Jack golfers to win a trophy or some other mark of distinction.

This year's team lacked the all-important experience, but some of their larger opponents were forced to bow down.

The boys turning out were Jack Barnes, Chuck Mertsching, Mickie Skaugg, Ken Weum, Jim Sainsbury, Duane Randall, and Warren Bishop. Next year's team should be excellent as only one man will be lost by graduation.

"Fore!"

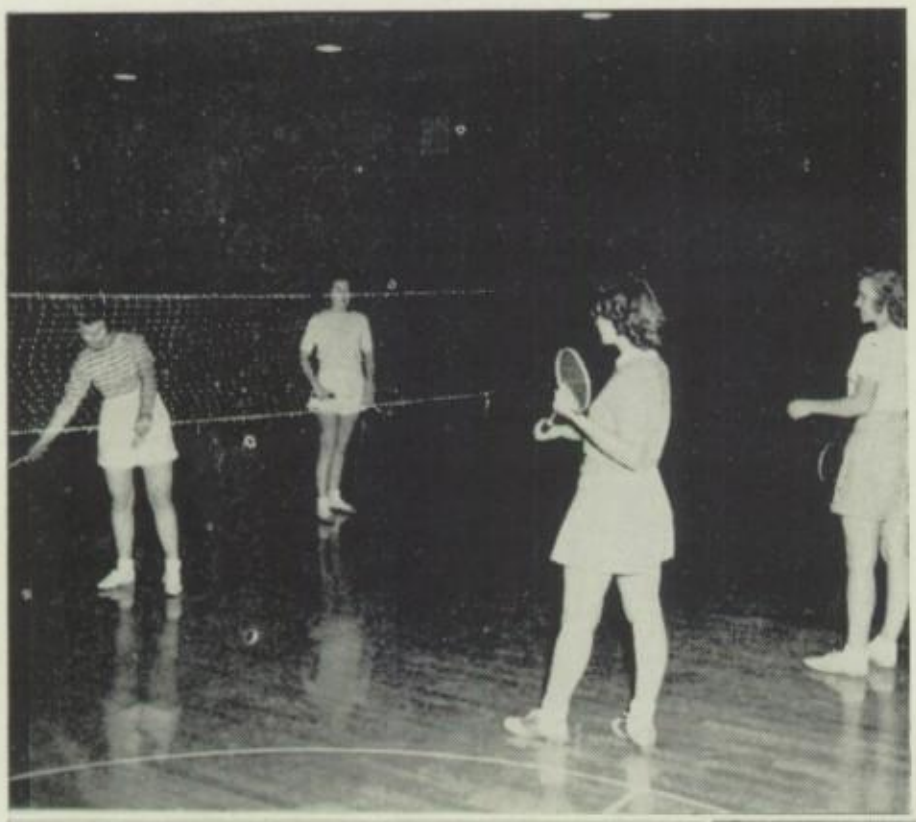
"Utter Perfection!"



Sports in Season

Variety of activities is the key note of an interesting program in the girls' physical education department.

In the fall such sports as archery, golf, speedball, and tennis are played with great enthusiasm. When winter comes around, basketball and badminton are played indoors. Then comes spring, and popular sports—softball, tennis and archery—are taken up again. Because of the Tennis Team and their various matches played with different schools during the year, tennis holds a big interest.

Swimming, a great favorite, goes on the year around. The classes are segregated according to ability with advanced junior and senior classes studying life saving and water ballet.

Some of the minor year-around activities, such as volleyball, tumbling, ping-pong, horseshoes, box-hockey, shuffleboard, tetherball, bowling and dancing are used as a substitute for outside games on those frequent rainy days so common around Longview.

Mrs. Bonita Christal and Miss Marie Johnson are the physical education instructors.

STUDENT LIFE

After work was done, the stage was often set for recreation. Dancing, mostly folk and ballroom, theatres, music, and outdoor sports—all were a part of the social life which these emigrants in 1849 brought with them from the East. They, too, found enjoyment in activities similar to those that we have now.

At the close of a day it was not an uncommon sight to see a group of neighbors gather for square-dancing. So, at the end of a week here comes our games, dances, and parties. Work, play, joys, sorrows, hardships—all went to make up the lives of our pioneer forefathers, and these same elements are embodied in the lives of the modern forty niners. So closes an important period in our history and in the lives of those who made it.

One goal is reached, one journey done,
We're on our way, not just begun.
A course complete has found its way
Through lives of work as well as play.

"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," a comedy in three acts by John C. Fuller, was presented by the Senior Class on November 19-20. The play, under the direction of Miss Margaret Kohlmeier, was centered around an impossible situation in which a young man from Connecticut suddenly finds himself taken back to the sixth century to the court of King Arthur. Many weeks of hard work went into the production of this play. Colorful costumes and realistic stage settings helped the students to take the audience along with them to King Arthur's Court. Although some of the cast had been in several other plays, many of them had never appeared on the stage before.
